The Isle Musicals production of "Bye Bye Birdie," a musical comedy by Michael Stewart with music by Charles Strouse and Lee Adams, will open Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at Moody Civic Center. The show will be repeated at a student matinee Thursday afternoon and a performance Thursday night.

THE TOURING troupe of New York performers, which presented "South Pacific" and "The Merry Widow" here, will arrive in Galveston Tuesday night for their Isle engagement under the auspices of the Galveston Convention and Tourist Bureau.

The entire production is under the direction of Phil Oesterman Jr., with musical direction by Wally Harper and choreography by Ciji Ware.

The scenery for "Birdie" has been designed by Robert Howery, with lighting by Art Bauman and costumes by Thuseda Schraub.

MARK STEPHENS, Jackie Carol, Jack Groverland and

Leonie Norton have the leading roles in the musical comedy satirizing a rock 'n' roll singer who is the idol of the teen-age crowd.

Stephens, who will play Albert, the singer's harried manager, was previously seen as Lt. Cable in "South Pacific." He holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from Hiram College in Hiram, Ohio, and received a bachelor of music degree from Baldwin - Wallace College Conservatory in Berea, Ohio, as a voice major. He later won a scholarship to the Musical and Dramatic Theatre Academy of New York, and studied theatre arts under Sanford Meisner, Ilanya Holm, Lehman Engel, Evie Bulloten and Philip Burton.

LEONIE NORTON will be seen as Kim, the young girl from the Midwest selected as "Miss Typical Teen-ager" who appears with the crooner on the Ed Sullivan Show. Leonie will sing the leading roles in the next two Isle Musicals shows, "Oklahoma" and "My Fair Lady."

Women Mastermind Houston Theatre

By WILLIAM GLOVER, Associated Press Drama Writer
HOUSTON (AP)—In Houston Theatre, women make the difference.

Elsewhere, from Broadway to Bucolic Byway, state enterprise is mostly male monopoly, with some damsel occasionally leading single community ventures.

BUT HERE in Houston, there are two long-running theatrical centers — and both tributes to female drive and determination.

One is the Alley Theatre, which began in 1947 and is now getting ready for impressive expansion with the help of a $2.1-million Ford Foundation grant, the largest yet given by that organization to a regional drama group. Undisputed mistress of the Alley is Nina Vance.

The other is Theater Inc., 11 years old and proud of talent-training accomplishments that it intends shall serve as a pilot operation for similar centers elsewhere. Heading the undertaking is Mrs. Johnny George.

THE ALLEY AND Theater, Inc., differ much in operational method, function in a spirit of warmly cordial rivalry, but are equally dedicated to providing Houston's rapidly growing population with entertainment variety and quality.

"The more events that are on, the more public interest is stimulated," says an Alley aide. "I think we do better business because of competition from others."

The Alley is a professional operation, with Equity actors. Theater, Inc., relies mainly on amateur performers and volunteer helpers.

DURING THE ALLEY'S span, 139 productions have been staged in the 214-seat Arena Playhouse. In 1954 switch was made to pro status after amateur origin. The frayed shoestring on which the project began has been replaced by a $200,000 annual operating budget which covers seven productions during a 40-week season.

Although comedy-revivals of Broadway hits — has been the surest boxoffice lure over the years, Miss Vance has maintained a high degree of artistic attainment by judicious interpolation of classics "The Three Sisters," solemn drama, "Long Day's Journey Into Night" and avant-garde "Waiting for Godot."

"Some of the shows we do now, I don't think we would have risked five years ago," says John Wylie, one of the company's acting stalwarts who also directs. "I feel the cultural sophistication of the area has grown."

THE MAIN EMPHASIS at the 300-seat auditorium of Theater, Inc. is on musical works such as "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," "Irma la Douce" and the recent highly successful showing of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." It's only straight drama was "Inherit the Wind."

Mrs. George's long labor of love for the enterprise started out as a one-year commitment to community service.

"ALL I EVER wanted to do in the theater was perform," notes the lady who has studied with such teachers as Jean-Louis Barrault, Pearl Primus and Lee Strasberg. She has staged 80 per cent of the group's productions.

She dismisses admiration of this ability with: "A director is merely a catalyst. You can't put anything into a performer that isn't there already—you only recognize and bring it out."

Witnesses Attending Austin Meet

Approximately 20 local persons, including Donald Campbell, presiding minister of the Galveston group, are volunteer delegates to the four-day "Fruitage of the Spirit" District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Austin which started Thursday.

A special report was presented to the Galveston congregation by Campbell, stating that the assembly would need persons with skills ranging from cafeteria workers and lift-holst operators to doctors and sound technicians, in order to make a smooth-running assembly.

Campbell said that one out of every six delegates will be working in some capacity at the convention themed around Auditorium. He noted that with the convention themed around "people helping people," those serving in the 22 departments will receive a wonderful experience with persons from 16 states, Canada, Mexico and other countries.
